FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

A hundred high school students will be accepted in the seventh annual Speech Camp at Montana State University from June 19 to July 8, according to Dr. Ralph Y. McGinnis, chairman of the speech department and camp director.

The camp is open to interested students who have at least one year of high school remaining and who rank in the top third of their class, the director said. Instruction is free but participants will pay for lodging and meals, he explained.

The three-week program will offer class instruction, dramatic production and public performances, McGinnis said. Campers may take any five of the six classes given, including voice and diction, oral interpretation of literature, choral speaking, debate, public speaking and dramatic production.

Recreational activities will include picnics, ice skating, organized games, swimming and trips to points of interest in the Missoula area.

Inquiries about the camp should be addressed to Dr. Ralph Y. McGinnis, Department of Speech, Montana State University, Missoula.
